BOY'S NECK BROKEN.

Coasting on Bicycle. Collided with Heavy Wagon.

While coasting down a hill on a bicycle at Tabor road and Clinton street, east of Germantown, last Monday, Paul Coleman, 11 years old, of 143 Welles street, crashed into a side wagon, fell over unconscious and died of a broken neck shortly after being admitted to the Jewish hospital.

Another boy of the same age was also on the wheel, but he escaped injury.

The wagon, belonging to Albert Hinkle, of Olney, was crossing the street, and the boys, being unable to check the speed of their bicycle, crashed into the rear wheel of the wagon. Both were thrown into the air. Dr. William L. Franck, of 219 West Tabor road, was summoned, and, finding Coleman's injuries so serious, sent him to the hospital.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

SHAFER-LEFFERTS.

One of the most interesting of the mid-June weddings in the Old York road section took place on Saturday, June 17th, when Miss Helen Lefferts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lefferts, became the bride of Albert B. Shafer, of Abington.

The ceremony was performed at 6.30 o'clock by Rev. William Porter Lee, D. D., of the Westside Presbyterian church, at Abington, at the residence of the bride's parents, Elkins Park, and was followed by a wedding supper. The bride was given in marriage by her father and her attendants were Miss Mary Lefferts from Belvedere, N. J., as maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Wharton from Mt. Airy, as bridesmaid, and Dorothy Lefferts, a niece of the bride, as flower girl. Albert Shafer had William Reuben Lefferts as his best man, and Merilee Shirer as usher. All being in the conventional evening attire.

Miss Maud Lefferts played the wedding march from Lohengrin and John E. Wharton, Jr., sang the bridal chorus.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with oriental lace and pearls, made on and carried in a shower bouquet of white sweet peas.

The attendants were gowned in embroidered robes of yellow and carried arm bouquets of pale yellow daisies. The flower girl was a little girl from Abington, who carried a basket of pale yellow daisies. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and azaleas.

Mr. Shafer and Miss Lefferts have both been prominent in social functions. Mr. Shafer is a prominent young business man of Abington.

After a trip through the New England States they will reside in their newly furnished home in Abington.

CARTIER-STIMMEL.

Miss Lillian C. Stimmel, a trained nurse, was married Monday morning to Edward Cartier, of Springfield, Mass., at the Church of the Holy Angels, Oak Lane, by the Rev. Father Morrissey. Nuptial mass followed the ceremony and a wedding breakfast was served. The bride and groom will make their home in Boston.

Sill, and Mr. and Mrs. Woolston. On Friday Mrs. Mary Henry gave a small luncheon for Mrs. McMillen, her guests including Mrs. Charles Ingersoll, Miss Ingersoll and Mrs. William A. Platt.

CONARD REUNION.

Nearly 200 descendants of John Conard, of Weymouth, and Sarah Childs assembled Saturday at Chestnut Hill park in annual reunion.

Leah Conard, of Port Washington, head of the association, and the only surviving of the twelve children of the founders, called the large family of the late president, Lewis Conard, to order.

Miss Ida Conard, of Port Washington, read a paper on the same subject prepared by Laura V. Fixany, of Riverton, N. J.

Isaac Conard presented some very tenderly-written thoughts from his remarkably preserved memory. Elwood Conard, of Salem, O., also made some interesting remarks. Walter DePonte, of Norristown, was present and called the occasion with musical selections. Mrs. Elwood Conard, of Iowa, recited the "Declaration of Independence" and the Declaration also presented a well rendered section.

The third Sunday of June was fixed for the next meeting and Chestnut Hill park was selected as the place. The following officers were elected: President, Isaac Conard, of Port Washington; secretary, Mrs. John B. Park, of Harsham; treasurer, H. F. Conard, of Abington.

The old home of John and Sarah Conard, Whitpain township, is now owned by Edward Duffield, on the road leading from Ogwyned to Chestnut Hill and between Blue Bell and Sandy Hill.

R. Montgomery Haines, of Mt. Airy avenue, Germantown, was host at a large and supper party at the Anchor age Thursday evening.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.
When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy. Mrs. Ines Lewis, Baring, Maine. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsapilla.

SUDDEN DEATH.

The funeral of Nathan B. Robinson, late of Richboro, was held on Saturday last, with interment at Union cemetery. Mr. Robinson, who had been nearly blind for some time past, was taken on the 12th to the Willa Eye hospital, Philadelphia, for treatment. Soon after his arrival at the hospital he was seized with an attack of acute indigestion and being unable to find relief, died on the 14th. He was a long time resident of Northampton and was formerly engaged in farming. Of late he had been living in Courtland Carr's, having been kept housekeeping. He was twice married—first to Hannah Corson and after her death to Maria Hoyle. She is also deceased, as are his two children, J. Corson and Ray Robinson. His only survivor is Walter Hoyle, of Philadelphia, a step-son. He was in his 65th year.

Miss Patterson entertained friends on Monday.

David J. Nolan visited friends in the city on Monday.

Frank S. Hough and wife entertained friends on Monday.

Henry Specht has a new motor truck for sale in his business.

Five or six houses are in course of erection on the Ferguson tract.

The Frazier farms are to have a motor truck to deliver their milk and produce.

Lewis W. Tomlinson has moved from Daville road to his house at Crestmont.

The Daville road has been greatly improved by a coating of crushed stone, well tamped.

Miss Emma Kinsey has returned after making an extended visit to friends in Maryland.

One house and garden in this section is that of Ellwood Daines, on Welsh road and Fairview.

Purman Betts, son of Frank Betts, one of our summer residents, is taking a course of scientific farming on the Frazier farm.

One of the Doylestown trolley car conductors lost his balance as he was walking along the running board near the Cut-off railroad, Wednesday morning, and was thrown into the canal, but escaped with a cut in the scalp. The injuries were not serious.

A successful strawberry festival was held on Saturday evening at the Willow Grove farm house.

The grounds were lighted with many Japanese lanterns.

Last Saturday the All-Stars defeated the strong Willow Grove A. A. at Willow Grove by the score of 19 to 2.

The feature was the batting of the entire All-Star team, who made 24 runs, 10 hits, 10 errors, 10 bases, 10 six hits, two home runs, triple and single. Whitehead struck out thirteen times.

Dr. Franklin Watson was called before a Philadelphia magistrate this week and made to pay $125.00, as fine and costs for exceeding the speed limit on Broad street south of Olney avenue. The doctor was hurrying to a city hospital, where he was to undergo an operation, at the time his number was taken. He says his speedometer showed not over 22 miles per hour, but the officer testified to 25 miles and the magistrate imposed the fine. To fine a doctor under such circumstances seems to be a mighty meat act, an unnecessary enforcement of the law.

Seth T. Wan, near Morgan's mill, has presented the main parts of an original Franklin stove, as designed by Benjamin Franklin himself and described in his pamphlet on the subject published in 1744, to the Bucks County Historical Society. So far as is known, the stove is the only original Franklin stove in existence in this section. It has the design of an eagle on the motto, "Alter Idem," and the side plates with apertures and grooves showing the location and the "air" chamber, which was the distinctive feature of Franklin's stove and does not appear in the iron fire plates later in common use in this section and erroneously called "Franklin stoves."

RICHBORO

BOY SHOT BOY.

Lloyd Caffery, while attending the L. T. L. reception, at the home of J. A. Gill, Richboro, on Saturday afternoon, was accidentally shot in the face just below the eye and near the nose, with a B. B. shot grain from an air rifle. The shot, which was supposed to be used for the purpose of blowing up one of the boys and discharged blowing off the little fellow's hat. The second discharge hit the lad in the face.

Dr. Albert Parker, of Southampton, was called and after a vain search for the shot decided it best to send the little fellow to the German hospital for treatment. He was taken down that evening, but no serious results are anticipated.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

TIMELY TOPICS OF PLANTS AND PESTS DISCUSSED WEEKLY
By H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pa.

ORANGE RUST OF BERRY PLANTS.

At this time of year a disease known as the Orange Rust is quite conspicuous on the leaves of the raspberry, blackberry and dewberry, giving them a bright, orange red appearance. This is the time of year that such diseased plants can be seen and caught and destroyed, and as the disease is very general in its spread, over a great portion of this State, information concerning it will be not only timely, but also practical.

A prominent York County berry grower sent diseased leaves to Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, at Harrisburg, and the latter replied as follows:

"The raspberry leaves, which you sent to us, are infected with the orange rust. There is no known cure for this. The only thing to do is to take out and burn the infected parts. The disease attacks blackberry, raspberry and dewberry, and is quite conspicuous by its orange yellow color on the leaves, due to the red spores or reproductive bodies of this parasitic plant, which it really is.

It should be understood that when it once enters a plant it remains there until its host (i. e. the plant) is killed, and thus a plant that is infected or diseased should be taken out and burned at once, and prevent its spread to other plants. Multiple millions of spores come from these infected leaves, and if any are left they will infect other plants. Prompt treatment by destruction of the entire plant as seen as the diseased plants are seen means much in helping to prevent the spread of the disease to other plants."

THE APPEARANCE OF THE SEVENTEEN YEAR LOCUST.

The Seventeen Year Locust or Cicada has appeared in Pennsylvania from the Susquehanna River eastward, and promptly upon schedule time, as predicted by State Zoologist H. A. Surface in communications early this spring, notwithstanding the fact that many persons thought this could not be possible, as they did not consider this as "locust year." Professor Surface explained that this was not the re-appearance of the 1902 brood, but was another brood coming from eggs laid in the twigs of the trees in 1894. State Zoologist Surface is making a special study of this brood of Cicadas or Seventeen Year Locusts, and requests information to be sent to him at Harrisburg, giving the dates of appearance and disappearance of the insects, some statements as to abundance, the amount of damage effected, the extent of the area covered, the enemies observed, and other points that will help to make complete the records and a detailed study of these insects throughout those portions of the Commonwealth in which they may appear.

It is recommended either to cover small trees with cloth or netting or wrap strips of cloth around the trunk and larger branches of fruit trees three years of age or less, where these insects are numerous. This is to prevent damage by piercing the bark and wood for the purpose of laying eggs. These do not feed on the trees as is popularly supposed. By the last of June they will have disappeared as suddenly as they came, and the young hatching from the eggs laid in the injured places of the living wood will drop to the ground, and there feed on the roots of the trees during another interval of seventeen years.

FLEA BEETLES ON GARDEN PLANTS.

What to do for Little Jumping Beetles Attacking Vegetables.

A farmer in Central Pennsylvania wrote to Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of the Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, asking for a formula to "kill a small black, flea-like insect, which is infesting the tomato plants." This was recognized as a Flea beetle, which eats small holes in the leaves of various plants. The directions for its treatment were as follows:

"The flea-like insect on your plants is no doubt a flea beetle, which attacks many kinds of plants. It is quite a serious pest, as it eats holes in the leaves, and in these holes disease germs may find entry into the plant, and cause blight and other diseases.

"I consider it very important to spray for such insects when they first appear. The best means of doing this is to spray with arsenate of lead, one ounce in each gallon of water, which is practically three pounds in one barrel. Spray as soon as possible, and if the pests are not destroyed within two days, repeat the operation. Spray again whenever they re-appear. Use the same remedy for the larger flea beetle now on the grape vines.

CHESTNUT BLIGHT LAW.

Governor Signs Measure to Appoint Commission for Fight on Tree Disease.

Governor Tener has signed the bill for the appointment of a commission to examine and, if possible, find a cure for the chestnut tree blight, which has been destroying chestnut trees in great numbers. The bill carries an appropriation of $275,000, and was passed principally through the efforts of the Chestnut Tree Blight Committee of the Main Line Citizens' Association, which has been fighting the pest for the last year.

The blight started in eastern Long Island, and has been moving steadily westward. It is a fungoid growth, which fastens on one tree after another, and has killed nearly every chestnut tree around New York and is doing the same thing in Pennsylvania. The commission is given authority to enter on any land for inspection of trees, to notify the owner of blight, prescribing whatever treatment is deemed wise, even to the removal and destruction of trees. If the owner fails to act as advised within 30 days from the time of notification, the commission has authority to carry out its directions and levy the cost on the owner. Where the removal of a sound chestnut tree is deemed necessary, in order to prevent the spread of the blight, the commission will pay the owner the assessed valuation.

Secretary Wilson of the Federal Department of Agriculture, has a number of times commended the Main Line Citizens' Association for its campaign to check the spread of the blight in this State. He pointed out that the chestnut tree blight will adequately control the tree disease, and praised the Pennsylvania Legislature for taking the step it has. Secretary Wilson also wrote to the same effect to Governor Tener. The National Government, so far as it could, cooperated with the Chestnut Tree Blight Committee. Haven Metcalf, in charge of the Bureau of Forest Pathology of the Department of Agriculture, wrote to Harold Pierce, chairman of the committee, last March, congratulating the association on its work and conveying information of the disease.

Through the efforts of the committee, Governor Tener sent a special message to the Legislature, urging appropriate laws to check the ravages of the disease, and in consequence such a law was passed. Senator Penrose also introduced an amendment to the agricultural bill in the Senate appropriating $5000 to be used in the study of the disease.

While the bill was pending in the Pennsylvania Legislature the American Philosophical Society adopted resolutions commending it.

From City to Suburbs

To shop or market from your home in the suburbs or country, to the stores in town, requires but the lifting of your Bell Telephone receiver and a brief order. The hustling merchant now rings telephone bells instead of door bells and caters to the enlarged field of telephone trade. This assures you that your orders will be filled satisfactorily and delivered with the greatest dispatch. Instead of delaying until your next visit to town, order at once.

TREVOSSE

Mr. Fisher, proprietor of the Trevosse poultry farm, who supplies the Bellevue-Stratford, lost a valuable horse during the week. The animal was injured upon a splintered log by a timber, which was broken in the night.

A taper pin breaking in the valve crosshead of one of the twenty horse power gasoline engines in the power house on the Short Line, did considerable damage on Tuesday afternoon. The engine was running full speed at the time, storing the electricity for many miles, and the engine, B. Verner Strickland, South Langhorne, had a narrow escape from serious injury. After clearing away the wreckage the duplicate engine was started and completed the day's run.

The dwelling place of those men who were robbed recently, and for which the robber is now languishing in prison, is again in the limelight. Their house was broken into on Thursday. One pair of shoes, blue serge trousers and two razors were taken. The house is without occupants during working hours, and being situated close to the tracks of the Philadelphia and New York Short Line, it is handy for calls by night.

Edward B. Sands, familiarly known as "Old Sport," reports that Trevosse won an up-hill game from the strong Bustleton team on the 18th. Score 8 to 7. Worthington pitched a fine game for his boys, being opposed by McKay of the East Philadelphia. The latter had the worst of decisions for five innings, but was more fortunate in the ensuing rounds when Broody umpired. Tomlinson and Hackney were the men behind the guns, respectively. Manager Vansant had a fast bunch and is arranging for some swift teams, and this should bring out the crowds. Don't forget the La Motte Giants on the 25th, and don't forget your purse, for we need the where-withal, you know.

Eight carloads of people, the first excursion in many years, came to Poplar Park on Saturday last. "Still there's more to follow." Attention was called in these columns some weeks ago to the development of this park, and although some have asked why greater progress has not been made, it should be borne in mind that the tearing down process, and the years of accumulated debris to remove, were expensive. It may be believed, however, that there is a formidable financial power back of this park, and while it is not policy to suggest the corporate name, yet the vicinity offers as safe an investment of private funds as can anywhere be found. The natural beauty of the place would make an investment profitable, if no other reason existed, but it must be borne in mind that experienced capitalists do not show their hands in great enterprises. They have agents, posing as owners, who represent them.
